

FIVE STATES TO BE REPRESENTED

Gathering of Woolgrowers in Salt Lake Will Be of National Importance.

STORAGE IS CHIEF THEME

CHICAGO AIMS TO BE COUNTRY'S WOOL CENTER.

Interest in the approaching gathering of wool growers in Salt Lake is so great that some of the Utah sheepmen are already in the city. As the meeting is to be held next Tuesday at the Army hall, it is expected that representatives of the Wool Growers' associations of Idaho, Montana, Wyoming and Nevada will begin to gather here today and tomorrow, but the bulk of the visiting sheepmen will probably not arrive until Monday.

The chief matter to be taken up at the meeting will be the proposed national storage movement. The success of the storage movement in Utah will, it is believed, cause the wool growers of the surrounding states to join enthusiastically in the plan to do away with the middleman.

In the expectation that the sheepmen of the great western wool growing states will unite in the plan to do away with the middleman, business men in a number of cities have exerted themselves to secure the shipments of storage wool.

Chicago's Strong Bid.

Bankers and business men of Chicago made a proposition to the executive committee of the National Wool Growers' association, which was carefully inquired into by a committee appointed for that purpose. The report of this committee will be read at Tuesday's meeting. Its terms were explained at a meeting of the executive committee in Chicago last month, but the members of the executive committee were unwilling to act without the endorsement of the sheepmen they represent, and for that reason the meeting in Salt Lake was called.

The proposition of the Chicago bankers and business men is to have the wool similar to those secured in Boston and Philadelphia by the Utah wool growers. On wool shipped to Chicago and placed in storage money will be advanced at a low rate of interest, and the warehouse charges and the cost of handling the wool are placed at a minimum.

If Chicago is made the storage point of the national movement, it is said the city will become the greatest wool market of the country.

Realizing this, other cities have entered the field to wrest the prize from Chicago, and the developments are expected at Tuesday's gathering.

To Guard Against Disease.

Representatives of the United States bureau of animal industry and members of the Utah state board of sheep commissioners met yesterday morning in the office of the sheep commissioners here to discuss plans for the exclusion from Utah of diseased sheep. Although the condition of the herds of the state is said to be good at present, some action was considered necessary because of the reports of disease among the sheep in Nevada.

It was decided to require Utah sheepmen to dip their rams twice between Sept. 1 and Nov. 15, before placing them in the flocks.

Sheep entering Utah from other states will be carefully inspected, and dipping will be required if the condition of the flocks seems to require it.

Rams shipped into the state over railroads must be dipped twice and must undergo inspection on their arrival here.

Sheep that have been dipped once outside of Utah will require only one dipping after reaching the state.

The sheep commissioners announced their determination to enforce the law requiring sheep owners from other states to notify the state board before entering Utah.

LOAVES INSTEAD OF FISHES

Adolph Levy Quits the California Market and Purchases Vienna Bakery.

Adolph Levy, formerly one of the proprietors of the California fish market, has purchased the Vienna bakery at 19 East Third South street. The bakery and lunch room were owned by the Vienna Bakery company, which was organized by Charles C. Seyboldt, who started the business in its present location five years ago.

Mr. Levy bought 1,500 shares of stock in the company for $15,000, which was at the rate of $10 a share. This gives him complete ownership of the bakery plant, but the business will continue to be conducted under the name of the Vienna Bakery company.

Mr. Seyboldt, who retires from the management of the bakery, will go to California. It is understood that he will purchase a bakery and restaurant at San Diego, where his family is now stopping.

The California fish market will be conducted by W. J. Bowring, who purchased Mr. Levy's interest in the business.

Mr. Levy took charge of the Vienna bakery yesterday. He said that he intends to make numerous improvements. The interior of the building is to be remodeled and new electric machinery is to be installed.

"At present," said Mr. Levy, "the bakery is well equipped, but I will strive to make it as near perfect as possible."

ROBBERY GETS DAILY RECORDS

Restaurant Keeper Victim of Highwayman's Assault on West Temple Street.

H. Halvorsen, a restaurant keeper, who lives at 623 South West Temple street, was held up last night about 10 o'clock by a masked man on West Temple, between Fifth and Sixth South streets, and relieved of $35, the day's receipts. The money was in a canvas sack.

Halvorsen, after closing up his place of business, was returning home and was walking south on West Temple, when a masked man stepped from the shadow of a building and struck him a vicious blow under the temple, stunning him for a moment. When he recovered, the robber had disappeared and with him the money in the canvas sack.

Halvorsen immediately reported the robbery to the police, who to this time have made no arrests. He was unable to furnish a description of the hold-up, except that the man was tall and well dressed.

The loss of the money is a severe blow to Halvorsen, as he has only recently started in business. Halvorsen has been in the habit of carrying the day's receipts to his home, and it is thought that the robber, learning of this custom awaited his opportunity.

A private safe may be rented in the fire and burglar proof vault of the Salt Lake Security & Trust company, 34 Up, Main street, $3.50 per year and upwards.

Judges Selected in Herald Yard Contest

The committee of the Civic Improvement league having in charge the Herald yard contest met yesterday and appointed a number of disinterested citizens as a board of awards. These judges will visit the various yards that have been entered in the contest, beginning the work today or Sunday. There will be separate judges for each of the districts.

There are four districts. That portion of the city north of Second South and east of Main streets is district No. 1; south of Second South and east of Main is district No. 2; west of Main and south of Second South is district No. 3; and south of Second South and west of Main is district No. 4.

For each district there are four cash prizes for the best front yards; four more prizes for the best back yards. These prizes range downward from $15 for front yards and $10 for back yards. For the best flower plot in each district The Herald gives a handsome clock.

The contest was formally announced as soon after the judges complete their work as possible.

BATTLE OF SUMMIT SPRINGS

Important Event in Indian Warfare to Be Reproduced With Buffalo Bill's Wild West.

The principal feature of Buffalo Bill's Wild West season is a reproduction of The Battle of Summit Springs, one of the deciding conflicts in the government's task of subduing the redskins. Colonel William F. "Buffalo Bill" Cody participated in the actual battle on July 11, 1880, at Summit Springs, near the western border of Nebraska. In this battle Chief Tall Bull, who was in command of the renegade Indians, or "Dog Soldiers," as they were called, was shot and killed as a distinction of about forty yards, by Buffalo Bill, who shot him from his horse.

This important incident will, of course, be reproduced as a part of the realistic mimic battle. General E. A. Carr, who was in command of the government forces; General E. M. Hayes, General William F. Hall and other officers who participated in the original battle, are still alive and will be impersonated in the battle scene in the Wild West.

Incidental to the battle scene will be shown many interesting features of Indian life; the erection of an Indian village will be shown, and incidents of Indian camp life will be depicted. The attack by the troops under General Carr will constitute a stirring scene, and the story of war will be dramatically illustrated. The Battle of Summit Springs, while the chief feature of the exhibition, will by no means constitute the only scene of the show. There will also be the "great train holdup," showing one of many scenes of lawlessness which have followed the march of civilization. And there will be "A Holiday at T-E Ranch," in which scenes there will be blended the pleasures and pastimes of the plains and the horrors of an Indian attack upon the whites.

QUICK OUT OF TROUBLE.

Father Saves Son From Disgrace by Settling Claims.

F. Harry Quick, who hails from Indiana, was released yesterday on a motion of Assistant County Attorney Mers. to the effect that the matter had been settled to the satisfaction of the complaining parties. He asked that the case be dismissed. Quick secured the release of T. O. Shkel and others of this city on drafts for $150, which were returned to the bank marked "no funds." Quick arrived here Thursday and made good the amount of his son's swindle. The order dismissing the case was made yesterday. Quick was released from custody. The father and son left for Indiana last night.

MRS. PRATT IMPROVES.

A report received last night on the condition of Mrs. Annie E. Pratt, who resides at 738 Montague avenue, stated that there was an improvement in the last twenty-four hours. She is still unconscious, however.

Mrs. Pratt was struck by a Wandamere car at Thirteenth East and Seventh South late Wednesday evening. She was taken to the L. D. S. hospital, where an examination revealed several cuts in her scalp and internal injuries. Mrs. Pratt relapsed into a state of coma, and it was thought that the case had developed into cerebral concussion, but the attending surgeon is hopeful in view of the recent improvement of Mrs. Pratt's condition. It was feared for the time that she would die.

THIEVES ARE NUMEROUS.

The city has been overrun of late by thieves of peculiar tastes. Robberies of a quantity of false teeth and plates from the show cases of two large dental firms were reported. Yesterday their tastes took a sudden turn to more bulky objects, such as a calf and a kitchen table.

Late Thursday evening thieves slipped into the Smith barn at 24 South Third East street and stole a calf. The rope with which the animal was tied had been cut.

The home of Mrs. A. K. Wedester in the rear of 221 East Third South was entered yesterday. The thieves took a heavy oaken kitchen table.

John Smith is charged with the theft of an alarm clock from the Colorado rooming house.

SAY GOVERNMENT FIGURES ARE LOW

Owners of Property Adjacent to Federal Building Declare Ground Is More Valuable.

Owners of the property adjacent to the site of the present federal building which the government seeks to acquire for the addition of accommodations for the service declare that the ground they control is worth much more than the estimate placed upon it by the local federal authorities, and some of them express the hope that the government will not acquire it. They are satisfied, they say, to let it pass to the federal government for public purposes, and are not at all anxious that the government accept the ground at the figure which they have placed upon it.

Thursday there came to the Herald office a dispatch from Washington whose contents were to the effect that condemnation proceedings had been asked for by the secretary of the treasury in the authorization and that the attorney general would speedily direct that these proceedings be instituted. The object of the lawsuits would be to condemn on behalf of the government forty feet west of the present federal building, facing Market street, and 125 feet deep and two small parcels in the rear, the larger owned by R. K. Walker and the smaller known as the Swenson lot. The ground facing Market street is owned by the Miner Building company, and is forty feet wide, the portion sought by the government is 125 feet deep. The Walker ground is 49 1/2 by 34 1/2 feet, and the Swenson lot 2 1/2 by 49 1/2 feet.

"We asked the government $50,000 for the Miner company property," said an official of the company yesterday, "and we think it is easily worth that much. We are not at all anxious to have the government take it at that price, but we are more anxious to have it by holding it and renting the buildings. Four of the five store rooms in the building are now being rented to prospective tenants for the vacant room, if we desire to take them."

"If the government people say that the property is not worth more than $25,000, they must certainly be wrong in their valuation, for we paid more than that for it. That is the fact. We do not want to obstruct the extension of the postoffice or the other federal offices, but we do not want to have the government take our property away from us without reasonable compensation."

The federal officials here did not receive word from Washington as to the result of the proceedings that are to be instituted. It is likely that they will arrive within three or four days. The action, if any is brought, will be taken in the United States court, where all actions of the kind where the government is a party are filed.

The sum of $175,000 has been appropriated by congress for the enlargement of the federal building. The Washington authorities have, according to the local press, divided this in such a manner that $125,000 is set apart for the building and $50,000 for the site.

ROBBIE FROWNS ON COLLUSION

Says He Disapproves of Any Practice by Which Divorce Is Made Easy.

ATTORNEYS STRIKE SNAG

HEARING ON CROSS BILL IN GRIMM CASE IS HELD UP.

Judge Morris L. Ritchie of the district court is most decidedly opposed to any collusion between the parties to a divorce action, and most emphatically stated his position yesterday, much to the discomfort of two attorneys.

Some time ago Mary E. Grimm brought a suit for divorce against Martin Grimm, Jr.

Before Judge Ritchie yesterday her attorney asked that the suit be dismissed.

Grimm's attorney immediately asked that the judge hear the evidence in the suit just brought by the husband against the wife.

"That looks like collusion within the law," said Judge Ritchie. "I do not care to encourage that kind of practice. It seems to me that there is too much of that in divorce cases, and the court has very strong views concerning any practice which encourages the securing of divorces with ease. There is no reason why this case should be tried at this time, as it is not on the calendar for the day, and it will have to take the usual course."

The attorneys attempted to argue with Judge Ritchie, but he would not hear them.

Martha Drops a Lemon.

Between sobs and smiles Martha Payne gave the evidence which secured for her a divorce from Dr. John Payne. During most of the hearing she smiled, but when she told of a letter she received from him three years ago she broke down.

"He told me in the letter," she said, "that he had been informed that I was sick and that he wanted to let me know that I could expect no aid from him. He said he needed his money for other things, and that he was leading a sad life. He was in San Francisco at that time."

The Paynes were married in 1901 and came to Salt Lake in 1903. When asked how it happened that her husband deserted her on May 17, 1904, Mrs. Payne recited the details.

"He was at home the night before," she said, "and the next morning I got his breakfast for him and then went to my work. I came home that night and found that he had left, and I have not seen him since."

The wife also testified that she supported Payne ever since their marriage, and that she is now working in a department store.

Rudolph Jacobson was granted a decree of divorce from Anna Jacobson. They were married Nov. 12, 1898, and the husband says that he was deserted by Mrs. Jacobson.

Cynthia E. LaBaron was divorced, from Alma D. LaBaron. They were married May 2, 1904, and the wife says that her husband deserted her Nov. 8, 1906.

Judge Ritchie desired to know why Ed A. Martin deserted his wife, May Garrick Martin, immediately after their wedding March 22, 1906. Because of this desire, he continued the hearing of the wife's suit for divorce until Martin can be located.

SEEKS TO RECOVER LAND

Mrs. Goodwin Says Daughter and Son-in-Law Conspired to Defraud Her.

Sarah Jane Goodwin asserts that her daughter, Sarah E. Binnell, and her son-in-law, Joseph Binnell, conspired to defraud her out of a piece of property which has been her only support, and she asks that the district court order a reconveyance to her of the land.

Goodwin says that since 1895 she has been a widow and has lived on the land. During 1904 she became seriously ill, and her daughter and son-in-law came to live with her. They told her that unless she deeded them the land it would fall into the hands of the county, and they offered her $100 for the land. She accepted their offer, and they executed a deed to the land to her daughter and son-in-law, she deeded the land to them while in a weakened condition due to her sickness. Now she wants it back again.

URNS OVER CASH FOR UTAH EXHIBIT

Committee Collects $3,500 to Give State Representation in Irrigation Congress.

Utah will spend $3,500 upon its exhibit at the national irrigation congress at Albuquerque, N. M. The money was subscribed by individuals, but it is expected that they will be reimbursed from the state treasury at the next session of the legislature.

The $3,500 was raised by a committee appointed by Governor John C. Cutler. It was composed of Fred J. Keisel of Ogden, Joseph Googhegan and Thomas R. Cutler. The subscribers are all men who are anxious to see that Utah's resources are properly represented at the gathering at Albuquerque.

The money was yesterday turned over to the state board of horticulture, which will have charge of the arranging of Utah's exhibit. This will consist of a complete display of every variety of fruit, grain, grasses and other agricultural products of the state.

The work of preparing the exhibit will begin as soon as Thomas Judd of St. George, president of the state board of horticulture, returns from his trip to Albuquerque. As the irrigation congress does not open until Sept. 26, Mr. Judd and the other members of the state board will have about a month in which to gather together the exhibit and ship it to New Mexico.

Arrangements have been made for a train of three or four Pullman cars to carry Utah's representatives to New Mexico. These cars will be sidetracked at Albuquerque during the irrigation congress, and will be used as sleeping quarters, as the hotels of the city probably will be overtaxed.

Badges have been ordered for the Utah delegates.

Plump Wax Model in Directoire Gown

A directoire gown on exhibition in the window of Colton's dry goods store attracted great attention on Main street yesterday, especially among the women shoppers, and a few men.

The gown is a plump wax model. The gown on exhibition is a beautiful creation in brown, and the shocked expression of those who stopped to admire it was lost in the murmur of admiration for the modeling of the beautiful garment.

The silk hose worn by the wax model showed the gown was a stunning shade of green.

The directoire gown has not received the approval of the fashionists of this country, and consequently the elite have passed their condemnation on this daring garment. A prominent theatrical manager, however, said that no chorus will be complete without the directoire show girl, so there is still hope that the gowns may be seen on living models.

TO INSPECT STEEL PLANT

Commercial Bodies to Co-operate in Sending Committee to Louisville, Ky.

As both the Commercial club and the Manufacturers & Merchants' association have taken action toward sending a committee to Louisville, Ky., to investigate the proposition of John E. Jones of Waukesha, Wis., relative to the moving of a large iron and steel plant to Salt Lake, a special meeting of the Salt Lake Real Estate association has been called for the evening at the Chamber of Commerce, at which the real estate men will discuss the proposition.

The action of the Commercial club and the M. & M. association have been sent out in the letters of the Real Estate association. It is explained that Mr. Jones has proposed the moving of Salt Lake of an iron and steel plant, now located at Louisville, Ky., which has an equipment of machinery valued at $100,000. It has been arranged that Joseph A. Silver, president and general manager of Silver Bros. Iron Works company, and Lon J. Haddock, secretary of the Manufacturers & Merchants' association, make a trip to Louisville with Mr. Jones to inspect the iron and steel plant there and report to the Commercial club and the Real Estate association.

Although there is no doubt that the members of the Real Estate association will approve the plan of sending the committee to Louisville, President Ed. J. Colborn explained that the directors of the association did not wish to act in the matter without submitting it to all the members.

If the report of Messrs. Silver and Haddock is favorable, it is said, abundant capital will be available for the moving of the iron and steel plant to Salt Lake.
